hold a centennial celebration of an im portant revolutionary event on the spot. Augusta, it will be remembered, was the key to all the upper part of the state, and if she celebrates we should and will turn in to swell the event.

JUDGE REED, of Charleston, S. C., sentenced two men to be hanged, but consoled them with the stanza begin-

"This world is all a fleeting show." This reminds us of the Iri h man's reply to the minister who quoted the same to him: "Yes," said Pat, "I know that's so; but I would like to see the show a little longer, y'er riverence." We presume the two poor fellows who are to be gratitude, be brought to uses base as this:

The Rome Commercial furnishes some interesting facts in relation to the admirable water works of that city The well near the banks of the river is fifty feet deep, from the bottom of which branches out a tunnel thirty-five feet blong, seven feet deep and four feet wide. Through this tunnel flows a bold, clear, cold stream from the solid rock, as large as a medium sized branch. This tunnel is sixty-five feet below the Rome railroad and fifteen below the Rome

—It is an interesting fact that the blood of Generals Warren and Putnam unites in the present generation. Gen. Warren's wife died before him, and at his death his four children were left orphans. Joseph Warren Newcomb was born at Greenfield, married there, and died last autumn, leaving two children, great-grandchildren of Gen. Warren. Of these, a son and daughter, the latter married an eminent Boston doctor, and is still living in that city; the former married at Hartford, Connecticut, a lineal descendant of Gen. Israel Putnam, of the same generation, and died some time ago, leaving one child. This boy, Warren is the processor of the same generation, and died some time ago, leaving one child. The rour men stayed there all in the corners termed the "long-crop men;" and yet the bears have had the best of the contest with the bulls, for the reason that the deficiency in the quantity has been made good by the improvement in quality; for the cloth producing capacity of the crop of 1874'5 is declared to be fully equal to that of 1873'4, though the quantity is probably a quarter of a million bales less.—New York World.

Money in Grasshoppers.

Money in Grasshoppers.

[Dispatch to Chicago Tribune.]
St. Paul, Minn., June 11.
Blue Earth county has paid up to today $15,000 for the destruction of grasshoppers, at the rate of $1 60 per bushel. The farmers are running traps propelled by horse power, in which they catch five to twenty bushels a day. Two hundred bushels were brought into the Mankato yesterday, where 1,500 bushels have been buried in one trench. All the hopper counties, except Nicolet, are paying rewards for hopper destruction. The total catch in Brown county yesferday was 123 bushels. A meeting, corresenting Blue Earth, Brown, Nicolet and Le Sueur counties, was held in Mankato yester-

Papal Receptions. Papal Receptions.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

Rome, June 22.—The pope received several deputations yesterday, who came to tender congratulations on the anniversary of his coronation. The holy father replied that he was greatly consoled in his afflictions by the marvelously increasing devotion and affection manifested towards the church throughout the Cathelic world. He dismissed as unworthy of attention the rumors of a reconciliation between the Holy See and the Italian kingdom.

At the municipal election held yesterday, Garibaldi headed the successful ticket. All parties supported him.

In the morning he resumed his march. For six successive days he wandered here and there, his course being first in one direction and then in another, as indications pointed. He struck several trails, but would lose them on the hard alkali soil, and what the man endured from hunger and thirst can not be expected.

nais generally disapprove of the proposed visit of the revival preachers to Eton. The Times deprecates unnecessary agilation, and hopes the governors considering that only one service is contemplated, will not make the institution rediculous by any interference. If this course be followed, it is likely the boys will not hear anything objectionable.

London, June 22.—Great excitement over the Moody and Sankey affairs. A protest against the proposed visit has been signed by six hundred and fifty boys. Memorials in favor of it received three hundred signers.

London, June 22.—At the last moment Messrs Moody and Sankey have been notified that they will not be permitted to hold their services at Eton. Accordingly they have given up their appointment there, and will go to Windsor and preach in the town hall at 2:30 this afternoon.

MEXICO'S BANDIT CHIEF.

The recent exciting state of affairs upon the Rio Grande border has excited renewed interest in the history of the leader of the Mexican bar ditti. He has been heard of before in the history of this country and promises icitude to the Texan rangers and the federal troops. Some years ago when n Matamoros, one of the Constitution | the Georgia railroad. Four counterfelts in a the opportunity of seeing their famous Juan Hepomucine Cortina. The impression made upon the appearance of the fellow, is well remembered, as he is a character decidedly sui generis, character decidedly sui geners, Cortina is now over fifty years of age,

of medium statue and dark, swarthy complexion. His head would be an interesting study to a phrenologist, since it is the seat of plain evidences of both brutality and intellectuality. Born in a mountain fastness and reared in the wild, reckless life of a Sierra Madre ranchman has combined in his character the boldness of the savage and the craftines and intelligence of the semi-civilized man. His black, fiery eyes prove aima wary, shrewd, strategic and ambitious man, and his broad, well-wrought proportions indicate the strength of the ion. All his life has been in consonance with his looks-one of stormy contention, crafty maneuvring and ambitious tours de force. Early in life he became celebrate locally as a horseman, gambler and cockfighter, and was the head and hero of the greaser rabble in the district of Mexico lying upon either side of the Rio

During the Mexican war he became spy and guerrilla in the service of his government and was a terror to the army of Gen. Taylor and all who were in the slightest degree suspected of disloyalty the Mexican government. The tales old of his personal exploits are many, and well authenticated, going to prove him a fearless, daring and reckless man In 1859 he began a long career as bandit chief, depredating upon Texas frontier, and it was only after a long course of pursuit and guerilla warfare that he was fi nally whipped his marauding stop ped. From then on, up to the time of the occupancy of Mexico by the French, he remained quiet, living in oriental hux new off the proceeds of his robberies. During the Maximillian war, he seized WASHINGTON, June 22.—New South Wales has voted five thousand pounds sterling for its representative at the cen-tennial.

John Morrissey and Tammany.

NEW YORK, June 22.—John Morrissey, who had been directed to appear before Tammany Hall Committee on Discipline, to answer the charge of treason and competracy against the peace and welfare of the party, attended last night, and answered a series of questions concerning his political course during the winter. The committee refused to accede to Mr. Morrissey's request for the admission of members of the press. The invostigation was conducted in secret, but the proceedings are published in full this mo mig. Mr. Morrissey defended himself against impeachment, and claimed that his course in opposing the Costigan bill and the civil justices' bill was more in the interest of Tammany than the opposite conduct of its managers. In conclusion he told the committee they might as well make a report for his expulsion, as he was not going to resign till he was ready. Morrissey then retired, and Augustus Schell and all the members of the eleventh assembly district and the general committee, except three, were severally examined. Mr. Schell and the rest stated, in answer to the questions asked, that there was no dissatisfaction in the district committee. disaffection which has of late been manifested against Tammany is gradually assuming shape. Last night there assembled in one of the upper parlors of Delmonico's, a large number of influential democrats, whose object was to form an organization which, it is hoped, will supersede Tammany. To this end it was last night decided to get a representative delegation from each of the wards, with the view to arranging preliminaries for the election of a general committee. First object of the organization will be to institute a systematic campaign against Tammany. It is not intended that the general committee shall be a provisional one, but shall be permanent. On Monday next, another usefting will be held, at which about five representatives from each ward will be present, and it is then expected that important work will be eddone.

The total number of paupers at this establishment is sixty-one, of whom thirty-four are supported by the city and twenty-seven by the county. These are all entirely dependent upon public charity, being utterly unable to support themselves, either wholly or in part, and with no one on whom they have claims for such support. Nearly all are o'd and infirm, and likely to remain paupers all their lives.

If the relief which has been afforded to individuals in the city during the past winter, by the relief committee, be withdrawn, the number of these paupers is not likely to be less. The inmates of the alms house are comfortably clothed and furnished with a sufficiency of wholesome food. In the quarter ending 31st March, 1875, during which the number supported perhaps reached its maximum since the establishment of the house, and which quarter is necessarly one of the most expensive sease us of the year, the total cost, including salary of superintendent and physician, reached an average of only 1556 ceuts per day for each inmate. The foregoing brief statement clearly shows that while the necessity of its continuance is imperative, the aims house cannot be made to any extent self-supporting. Not one of the inmates, who are most'y women, old and blind men and small children, is able to carry on farming operations, and while they are generally employed in cooking and house work, in making their own clothes, and in raising a few necessary vegetables, no system can be devised by which their labor can be made productive of greater results.

"By Councilman Turner—
Resolved, That a committee of the meeting of this body, in regard to its condition, and that of the inmates, what necessity, if any exists, for its continuance, and what means might be adopted towards rendering it self sustaining.

In obedience to the foregoing resolution, your committee wisited the alms-house, and after making a thorough examinat on of its condition and that of the immates, begleave to offer the following.

We find the buildings, ten in number, each having two rooms with stack chimney; also, authorized the part of the condition as could be expected, and suitable, with some repairs for perhaps two or three years further use. 'IMPUTED RIGHTEOUS-NESS."

What Teachers Think of the Curriculum of the Grammar Schools.

The Central Presbyterian Church, last Sunday morning, was filled with a Jarge congregation. Rev. W. H. Dabney, son of Co'onel W. H.

Nev. W. H. Danney, son of Co onel W. H. Dabney, preached his first sermon, and was listened to with marked attention.

He selected for his text the words:

"For He hath made Him to be sin for us who knew no sin that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him."—2d Cor. 5 c. 21 y. the righteousness of God in Him."—2d Cor. 5c. 2Ly.

It is plainly an assarilon of the impu'ation of our sm to Christ who standing for, or instead of us, is constitued a sinner, of Our Sius are imputed to Him and His righteousness is imputed to us.

In the passage before us we find the plan by which God is in Christ reconciling the world unto himself by not imputing their tespasses, unto them, but accepting them as righteous persons, by means of the imputed righteousness of christ.

This doctrine of IMPUTATION forms the basis of our justification before

Christ Made to be

Sa mon by Rev. W. H. Dahney

God. I shall endeavor to establish the two propositions contained in the tex.:

1. That our suns are imputed to Christ, so as to constitute H m a sinter instead of

as to constitute H m a sincer instead of us.

2. That Ch ist's righteousness is imputed to us so as to constitute us righteous persons in Him.

What is my ant by imputation? It has been objected that tuls doctrine is a legal fiction—that tuffit is as nutramme led as personal demerit, and that righteousness cannot be tan aired athout making the subject personally holy.

The scriptural doctrine of imputation is based upon the acknowledged truth that guilt or obligation to genalty may be transierred without the transfer of personal demerit; and so also righteousness or title to reward may be transferred without the transfer of personal demerit; and so also righteousness or title to reward may be transferred without the transfer of personal demerit, and so also righteousness or title to reward and had also also righteousness or title to reward the old man, and asks him to become a member of his famity. Berzillai plead the infirmities of age, and asked that he might return home. He requested that the privileges might be conferred upon his son, which David did, transferring to the son the title of the father to the reward.

Christ is our surety. He assumes as our substitute not our moral character, not personal demerit, but our loyal relation to God, the tile or obligation to keep all the precepts of the law. His loyal relation, his righteousness, his tilt to reward, is transferred to us, and we are constituted right eous persons in Him.

Our sins are imputed to Christ, so as to A ferred to us, and we are constituted right eous persons in Him.

Our sins are imputed to Christ, so as to constitute him a sinner instead of us.

1. Because Christ himself was personally innocent, and yet a sufferer. He was perfectly holy, yet the greatest of sufferers.

2. decause Christ, according to the scriptures, was a true and proper sacrifice. The idea designed to be symbolized by a sacrifice was a substitute of the victim and its suffering and death instead of the offender for his guilt.

Mr. Trammell said he would tell a story of the commune of Paris. The 18th of March, 1871, marked an era in history, and from thence on, forever and ever, shall the heights of Mont Martre be one of the places which men will feel like approaching with bared feet. The battle of the commune had been preparing since the beginning of time. For this Aegis and Cleomenes shed their blood and successive heroes had laid down their lives. The history of the commune was interesting because it was the first government ever established by the workingmen, and because it was the beginning of the end of the battle between labor and capital.

that it was one of the pleasantest of our life.

Dawson Journal: As we announced last week, the members of the Georgia press association will assemble in convention in Atlanta on the 7th day of July. We are glad to see from our exchanges that a goodly number of the editors in the state expect to attend. It is sincerely hoped and believed that the convention, from present indications, will be a pleasant success.

As regards the number and ability of her literary and public journalists, Georgia stands in the foremost ranks among her sister states; and as the press is the great energizing and active agency in the promotion of morality and civilization, it is certainly essential tha: we move onward with unanimity and harmony in this great work. They are supposed not to know their letters, which suppos pression of their views on the subject of the tendency of the system to hold back pupils or advance them. The teachers apoke freely and unreservedly and their opinions founded as they are on experience, are entitled to great weight. In the eighth grade pupils of six years of age are received. They are supposed not to know their letters, which supposition is true in 999 cases out of 1000. They are taught the alphabet, to spell in monosyllables and to read in the first reader. At this age it is difficult to get the young child fully interested in education. The old obsolete and foesilised idea of a century ago, to give the child a book, and whip 'em into learning, has proved a failure. Enlightened, practical and wise educators devised a plan to interest the child by enlisting all his energies in the work—by giving employment to his mind, his eve and his hand—in requiring them to print their lessons with pencil. This absorbs their attention. It does more than this—it stamps indelibly upon their minds the lesson so printed. They are taught likewise a little of the seds of music. Superficial men—those whose brains like for that development which this system gives even to a child of six—may esteem it "tom foolery," but in doing so, he confesses his ignorance. The ground work for a thorough education—one that draws out the mind instead of cramming the pupil—is thus laid in the eighth grade.

In the saventh grade the pupil spells in two syllables, reads in the second reader, draws the seales of music and notes, and learns practically the elements of singing by note.

In the sixth grade the pupil advances to the HUNT, RANKIN & LAMAR.—In another column will be found the advertisement of this sterling drug firm. Mr. Rankin has permanently located in our midst. The firm is one of the best in the south, and we commend them to our readers. They keep a full stock of pure drugs and chemicals and will be found O. K. as merchants and gentlemen. —A Houston (Texas) street car, drawn by a mule, has lately been the scene of a romantic incident. They had been seperated by the cruel war for twelve long years. There he sat on one side of the car.
